ARTIST IMPRESSION

A home that feels good to come home to.

There's a lot that goes into making a home work well.

A home that makes room for different parts of everyday life. A kitchen that brings people together. A place to work from home without taking over the dining table. Somewhere outside to sit, play, unwind or have friends over.

That thinking sits behind this limited collection of new terrace homes in Schofields.

Across two light-filled levels, each home has been designed around everyday family life, with generous living spaces, quality finishes and sustainable features that make home feel easier, more comfortable and more considered.

And they're delivered by Landcom, bringing decades of experience in creating communities people are proud to call home.

Close to what you need.
Connected to what matters.

A good home is about more than what's inside it.

Here, you're part of an established Schofields community, with the everyday essentials, schools, transport and connections already around you.

Schofields Station is just 1.4km away, making it easier to get where you need to go, while the community itself has been planned to feel greener, cooler and more liveable.

So, while your home is new, you're not starting from scratch.

You're moving into a place that already feels connected.

Morning rush. Work calls. Homework at the table. Dinner with family. Friends dropping by. A quiet coffee outside.

These homes have been designed to make all of it feel a little easier.

The open-plan kitchen, dining and living area opens directly to a private rear alfresco space, giving you room to come together and room to spread out.

There are three bedrooms with built-in wardrobes, a dedicated study nook and two full bathrooms, one on each level.

Quality finishes include Caesarstone benchtops, engineered timber flooring downstairs, carpet upstairs, ducted air conditioning and LED downlights throughout.

Each home also includes a private carport with secure roller-door access, while corner homes enjoy extra natural light and larger private gardens.

A smarter way to build a better home.

These homes are being created using Modern Methods of Construction, combining precision-made components with skilled on-site building.

It's a contemporary approach that helps improve consistency, quality control and efficiency through the construction process.

But what matters most is what that means when you live here.

A well-made home. Comfortable to live in. Designed with sustainability in mind. Built for the way families live today, and for the years ahead.

Modern construction is simply part of how Landcom is helping create quality homes with greater care and consistency.
